PROGRESSIVES TRY TO WEAKEN TAFT ARGUMENT

Leaders Issue a Statement, Written by Roosevelt, in Reply to Hilles's Defense of President.

THEFT AT CHICAGO BURDEN OF THE CRY

Indiana Delegates Are Still Claimed by Defeated Candidate. Who Insists He Was "Steam-Rollered."

By International News Service. EW YORK, Aug. 4 -Replying to Charles D. Hilles's defense of President Tafe and the actions of the Republican national committee at Chicago, the provisional nacommittee of the National Progressive party has issued today a statement, entitled "A stolen nomination for the presidency—the facts of the Chicago convention of 1912." It was written by Therdore Roosevelt and reads in pari;

The total number of delegates making up the Chicago convention was 1978. To nominate Mr. Taff required 549 delegates Mr. Taft did not have this number of votes in the convention; of the honestly elected delegates Mr. Roosevelt had a decisive majority. How was Mr. Taft to be nominated? Not by a minority, that was clear. He had been unable to wit a majority. That majority had to be Without a qualm the national committee ignored these delegates and seated the Taft delegates, elected by a bolting minority from the state convention in direct violation of the Terrell election law of the state of Texas."

Then the statement goes on to say that the national committee, knowing that only eleven or twelve of its members were impartial, or in favor of Roosevelt, passed a rule that there should be no roll call except upon a request concurred in by twenty members. Senator Borah of Idahopposed this, but was "steam-rollered" and the number remained at twenty.

Southern Contests.

"A large proportion of the contests," the southern states, and were in the party administration in the southern states for more than a generation. These southern states never cast an electoral vote for a Republican candidate for the presidency, yet through the federal patronage given to a president seeking renomination, Taft received 244 votes from such southern states. He could not have spared the single Democratic state of Alabama, or Virginia or Georgia.

In many of the southern states for malities in regard to the call for conventions were totally disterarded. Conventions were held without notice or upon irregular notice. The participa tion of the voters in the choice of local delegates was neither desired nor sought, but, on the contrary, every fraudulent device was used to exclude such par-

A misstatement is contained in the account of the California contest, to the effect that the result in the Fourth California district was certified to by the registrar of voters of the city and county of San Francisco, but the further information is not vouchsafed that the certification of the vote was thereafter cancelled and reacinded as being not only incorrect, but, by reason of local conditions, impossible.

the decision of every contest hinged: Were the contestants for Taft or were they for Roosevelt?

"If for Roosevelt some pretext must be found for excluding them from the convention. If for Taft it did not make any difference what pretext was selected, they were promptly seated. Mr. Taft was nominated by twenty-one, or by nineteen, it the two from Massachusetts are omitted, and they were counted only by the extraordinary ruling of Chairman Root that continues the statement, "originated in when a delegate answers present, but not voting, his alternate shall be allowed to corruption which have characterized the is a Taft man and that delegate a Roose velt man.

According to the statement, the cases of California, Arizona, Washington and Texas cover thirty votes. The change of these thirty votes which, it is claimed, rightfully belonged to Roosevelt, would have defeated Taff and reversed all the important actions of the convention. The four cases are summarized as follows:

"California — Twenty-seven delegates were elected pledged to Mr. Roosevelt, who carried the state by a majority of 11.000 over Mr. Taft. As has been shown the Taft forces arbitrarily substituted their Fourth district delegates when Roosevelt delegates had been elected. This case affords a curious commentary on Mr. case affords a curious commentary on Mr Taft's declared attitude in favor of pop ular primaries.

"Texas The delegates at large from Texas were chosen by the regular convention by a vote of 152 to 18 in favor of Roosevelt. Only 27 out of 249 counties in Texas instructed for Taft, and of these 27 only 13 participated in the regular convention.

Washington Contest.

"Washington—There were 578 delegates to the state convention, of which 252 uncontested were for Roosevelt and 97 uncontested were for Roosevelt and 97 uncontested for Taft. Three hundred and four seats were contested. In order to get a majority the Taft men had to get a least 128 of these contested delegates. They did this by throwing out 121 legality elected Roosevelt delegates from Kings county, putting in 121 Taft men appointed by a subcommittee which had been declared out of existence by the Kings county central committee. They did it by distributing tickets of admission to the convention hall at Aberdeen only to the by distributing tickets of admission to the convention hall at Aberdeen only to the delegates for Taft. Roosevelt delegates, whose credentials had been previously approved by the pro-Taft state committee were denied admission, as well as those whose seats were contested. The Roosevelt delegates, being in the majority, held a convention at Aberdeen and elected delegates to the national convention headed by Senator Miles Poindexter. At the Roosevelt convention 581 men were in attendance, while only 401 attended the Taft convention, yet in the national convention the Taft delegates were the only ones counted.

Fraud Alleged.

"Arizona—The state committee made up a fraudulent temporary call by seating Taft delegates from two counties where Roosevelt men had been elected and thus controlling the convention. The Roosevelt delegates refused to recognize this and the result was two conventions held simultaneously in the same hall, each one of which selected six delegates at large to the national convention. The seating of the Taft delegates by the state committee was contrary to the practice of the party and, on merits, the Roosevelt delegates clearly were elected, as well as on technicalities. In county conventions, notably Cochise and Maricopa, Roosevelt delegates were elected legally and above board. The Taft men did not attempt to deny this, but in the face of it the state committee usurped the power of making up a preliminary roll and threw out the Roosevelt delegates who had been regularly elected in two counties, substituting therefor Taft delegates who had not a shadow of title to their seats. In this way a Roosevelt majority of the state convention, bit out of 96, were fraudulently snagow of title to their seats. In this way a Roosevelt majority of the state convention, 54 out of 96, were fraudulently transported into a Taft majority and the six delegates to the national convention selected by the fraudulent state convention

Promoters of the match says it is difficult to get much of a line on Berg's method of attack. He has let his sparring partners maul him around the mat and has kept on the defensive to a great extent. As was said by Mr. Roosevelt recently:
"Both a great moral issue and a fundamental principle of self-government are involved in the action of the so-called Republican convention at Chicago, and we cannot submit to that action without being false both to the basic principles of American democracy and to that spirit of righteousness and honesty which must underlie every form of successful government."

The programme for tomorrow calls for convening at noon, the speech of Mr. Beveridge as temporary presiding officer, the appointment of committees and the adoption of the resolution inviting Colonel Roseswelt to address the convention Tuesday afternoon. If all of this can be accomplished by 3 p. m., it is proposed that the first session shall close with an "experience meeting," in which a representative from each state is expected to tell in a brief address why he is a progressive.

The Wisconsin delegation found itself today without a state headquarters. The California delegation hearing of the plight of their fellow progressives, adopted a resolution inviting the Wisconsin delegates to share their headquarters, which are perhaps the most comfortable and elaborate of any engaged for the convention. Colonel Roosevelt's speech was originally scheduled for Monday night. It was suggested to him that the time of its delivery be postponed and he sent word to his manager that he would not consent to a delay until after the platform had been presented to the convention. Advance copies of the speech reached the leaders of the new party several days ago. The colonel said nothing, however, to indicate that the suggestion for a delay in the delivery of the speech was due to the impressions of those who had read it.

The appointment as a messenger by President Taft of Mingo Sanders, who was a sergeant of the colored infantry regiment discharged from the army for participation in the Brownsville riots, led Colone! Roosevelt to criticise the president sharply. Sanders took the stump in the Ohio primary fight between Colone! Roosevelt and President Taft. "Sergeant Mingo Sanders," said the colone! "was the oldest and most respected non-commissioned officer in the companies which, on the recommendation of Secretary of War Taft, were discharged without honor in 1906, and of whom Mr. Taft, as secretary of war in 1905, spoke as follows:

More women delegates are expected to attend the convention than any other national political gathering in the history of the country. Colonel Roosevelt has expoused the vause of woman a suffrage. The women delegates plan to assemble tomorrow in front of the art institute and march to the convention hall with banners and bands.

Among the delegations arriving today were those of Montana and Idaho.

Nearly all of the states are to have delegations in excess of their allotted quota, which is just one-half the number of delegates allowed by the Republican and Democratic conventions. The basis of representation in the progressive convention is one vote for each senator and representative. The votes of the delegates are to be split in fractions ranging from one-half to one-eventh.

South Carolina so far is the only state from which no official motification of participation in the convention has been recived.

Practically all the state caucuses have been postponed until tomorrow, when nominations will be made for the new national committee.

NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The National Progressive party must accept Colonel Roosevelt's political doctrines if he is to be its standard hearer. SEAGIRT N. J. Aug. 4.—Charles R. Crane of Chicago, wealthy banker and supporter of La Follette in his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, may be the treasurer of the Democratic national campaign committee.

Governor Woodrow Wilson had the name of Mr. Crane under consideration today.
